

Spuma FR Cables With Extended Product Range

HUBER+SUHNER has extended its Spuma portfolio with new flame retardant (FR) cables. The Spuma product family provides highly flexible cable solutions and stands for its extremely low loss. Spuma FR cables with extended product range.

These cables are free of halogen and offer excellent electrical performance, especially an outstanding return loss (VSWR). Spuma cables are designed for applications up to 6 GHz and offer great opportunities in different industries, including railway, defense, communication and others.

Contacts:

For detailed information, please review the datasheets or contact your Aerospace+Defense application engineer.